

Why Social Sharing?

The Benefits of Using Social Sharing for Emails

The VerticalResponse social sharing tool enables you to extend the life and reach of your email marketing campaigns by enabling you to archive and share your sent email on Twitter and Facebook. This tool not only helps get your information in front of more people, but also helps you build your list by getting the hosted version of your email in front of new faces.

The best part of this tool is it's free to all VerticalResponse customers!

Archive Your Emails

Do you publish a monthly or weekly newsletter? The email archive tool allows you to keep a log of all your newsletters on your website; by offering an easy way to turn your email into a webpage and link to it.

Keeping an email archive is a great way to show potential subscribers the type of content or offers you provide to existing email subscribers. The archived version of your email will live forever on the web so you can "set it and forget it". Then you can share the link to your archived email whenever you like.

Socially Share Your Email On Facebook

With hundreds of millions of users, Facebook is a hugely popular social network. Facebook provides an easy way for you to post new information about your products or your business. One of the best practices of building a community on Facebook is sharing content you have created for your business like videos, awards, web pages and more. Because you've already invested your time creating content and offers for your emails, it makes sense to get more mileage out of your hard work by sharing your emails on your personal Facebook profile and your business Facebook Fan page. Once you've sent your email campaign, you can post it to Facebook directly from your VerticalResponse account. When you share your email campaigns they act as teasers to encourage your fans to sign up for your email list.

Socially Share Your Email On Twitter

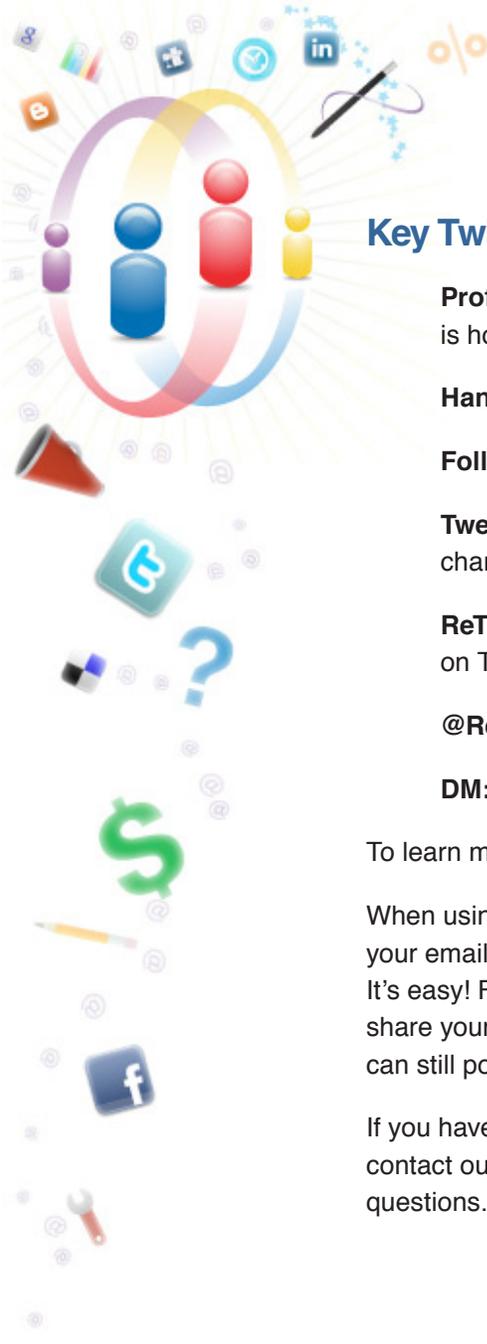

Twitter is one of the most popular microblogging sites in use today. It is called microblogging because unlike Facebook, it publishes limited content (140 characters – a.k.a Micro) to the web where it can be viewed by anyone or by a restricted group (a.k.a Blogging).

When you post something on Twitter it's called a "tweet". You can tweet your email campaigns or email newsletters to expand your reach. Once you post your email, your Twitter followers can view it, new potential customers can read it, and anyone can recommend it or ReTweet it to their Twitter followers. It's also a good idea to tweet a link to your opt-in form separately. That way people can sign-up for your communications once they see what you have to offer.

The VerticalResponse social sharing tool enables you to create a tweet, shorten your url to maximize your 140 characters, link it to your email campaign, and post it to Twitter. This is done all from within your VerticalResponse account after your email marketing campaign has been sent.
